

Dutch Optical Cable Standards

Overview

Dutch trade organization NLconnect has published Product Category Rules (PCRs), for active and passive fiber products. The PCRs introduce common calculation rules that allow manufacturers and vendors to map out the environmental impact of fiber optic products in a standardized, stable manner regarding interoperability and compatibility between manufacturers. This work materialized through the development of good practices, procedures and specifications documents, reflecting a certain state of the art at a given time, and the result of a consensus of all stakeholders (op table.
